Course Description

An all-inclusive course specially designed for O-Level students who wish to explore English across generational and cultural perspectives. The course covers critical thinking, systemic reading, understanding and appreciation of a wide range of literary and informational/functional texts from print and non-print sources.

Students will be exposed to carefully selected readings written locally or globally through which they will learn how to interpret meanings through guided language/literary analysis, respond in speech or writing to a variety of written, spoken and visual texts. In this course, students are required to synthesise, summarise, organise information, and use language to communicate meaning effectively to deal with the components of the 'O' Level English examinations .
